

The right to broadcast on the airways belongs to the citizens.
Any rules or regulations must scrupulously protect public interests to access, freedom of expression, diversity, etc.
Catering to large scale commercial interests is directly opposed to the rights of the public and the American tradition of freedom of information and expression.